KEY RISKS AND RISK MANAGEMENT

Investment in UITF exposes the investors to various types of risks including but not limited to:

- Interest Rate Risk : This is the possibility for an investor to experience losses due to changes in interest rates. The purchase and sale of a debt instrument may result in profit or loss because the value of a debt instrument changes inversely with prevailing interest rates.
- Market/Price Risk : This is the possibility for an investor to experience losses due to changes in market prices of securities (e.g., bonds and equities). It is the exposure to the uncertain market value of a portfolio due to price fluctuations.
- Liquidity Risk : This is the possibility for an investor to experience losses due to the inability to sell or convert assets into cash immediately or in instances where conversion to cash is possible but at a loss.
- Credit Risk/Default Risk : This is the possibility for an investor to experience losses due to a borrower's failure to pay principal and/or interest in a timely manner on instruments such as bonds, loans, or other forms of security which the borrower issued.
- Reinvestment Risk : This is the risk associated with the possibility of having lower returns or earnings when maturing funds or the interest earnings of funds are reinvested.
- Other Risk : Your participation in the UITFs may be further exposed to the risk of any actual or potential conflicts of interest in the handling of in-house or related party.

PSBank Money Market Fund uses a defined Risk Management policy in identifying and measuring level of risks. The Fund uses weighted modified duration in evaluating market risk for investment in fixed income securities. Modified Duration measures the approximate sensitivity of the value of the security to changes in interest rates. Interest rates have an adverse relationship with fixed income security prices so that an increase in interest rates generally leads to decrease in fixed income prices and vice versa. The higher the duration of an instrument, the higher its risk (considering all other factors are equal).

OUTLOOK AND STRATEGY

Month-on-month, yields on government securities increased by 14 bps on the average with the 91-day T-bills closing at 5.05% up by 45 bps for the same period as market remained defensive in the absence of firmer leads, while most dealers were seen just servicing end user requirements across the curve. Meanwhile, the government plans to borrow P160 billion worth of T-bills and T-bonds in April, down by P40 billion or 20% from last month. The Fund's 30-day and year-on-year absolute performance was at 0.341% and 0.948% vs. benchmark of 0.322% and 0.904% respectively, while duration stood at 0.09-year as maturities were re-invested in short-term fixed income instruments. Headline inflation in March declined to 7.6% from 8.6% in February (lower than consensus forecast of 8.0%). This is still higher than the BSP's target range for inflation of 2.0-4.0%. This brings average headline inflation from Jan-March 2023 to 8.3%. However, core inflation rose to 8.0% from 7.8% in February. The lower headline inflation was primarily due to slightly lower prices of certain food products, easing fuel prices and lower utility prices during the month. The Fed raised its policy rate by 25bps during its FOMC meeting last March. Despite the turmoil in the US banking system, the Fed pushed through with its rate hikes and said that "additional policy firming may be appropriate". Meanwhile, the Monetary Board also raised rates by 25bps during the MB meeting last March 23rd. BSP Gov. Medalla said that the BSP remains committed to lowering inflation and said upside risks to inflation remain amid food supply issues and potentially higher transport and utility prices. He also reiterated that the Philippine banking system remains strong and can withstand further monetary tightening and that it may be too early to pause rate hikes. Despite the lower than expected March headline inflation, the MB may still hike rates by 25bps at the next MB meeting in May as core inflation remains elevated. There is also the risk of higher oil prices after the recent cut in production by OPEC+ oil producers. These two factors may contribute to inflation remaining high for a longer period and may also result in increased volatility. Looking ahead, any potential rate hikes may still cause domestic interest rates to marginally rise which, in turn, may lead to lower mark-to-market values in the short-term. The Fund will continue to invest in short-term fixed income instruments to take advantage of higher yields which could provide greater accruals for the Fund.
